PETITIONING THE COURT

To issue a WARRANT.

On October 7, 2022, Mr. Dashane Warren Vielle signed his conditions relative to case number 2:17CR00060-RMP-1, indicating he understood all conditions as ordered by the Court. On February 7, 2023, Mr. Vielle again appeared before the Court at which time the client's conditions of supervised release were modified by the Court, allowing for residential reentry center (RRC) placement. Mr. Vielle was advised of the change and his requirement to participate in services during the proceeding, to which he acknowledged his understanding.

The probation officer believes that the offender has violated the following condition(s) of supervision:

Violation Number	Nature of Noncompliance
-------------------------	--------------------------------

1	Standard Condition #5: You must live at a place approved by the probation officer. If you plan to change where you live or anything about your living arrangements (such as the people you live with), you must notify the probation officer at least 10 days before the change. If notifying the probation officer in advance is not possible due to unanticipated circumstances, you must notify the probation officer within 72 hours of becoming aware of a change or expected change.
---	---

Supporting Evidence: It is alleged that Mr. Vielle violated the conditions of his supervised release by aborting residential reentry center (RRC) placement on February 18, 2023, at 4:50 p.m., without first seeking approval from his U.S. probation officer and without advising the undersigned officer as to his living arrangements.

Specifically, on February 18, 2023, at 4:58 p.m., the undersigned officer received an email from RRC staff indicating that the client had departed the facility without approval and staff was unaware as to any identified concern on the part of the client. Staff further described him as stating that he was “done with this place.”

On February 21, 2023, at 3 p.m., Mr. Vielle reported to the U.S. Probation Office and indicated that he could no longer “handle it there,” referring to the RRC. Mr. Vielle indicated that he had attempted to contact the undersigned officer, although admitted he did not leave a message. It should be noted, the undersigned officer had no missed calls from any number not known to the undersigned officer on the day in question. Mr. Vielle was on numerous occasions previously advised by the undersigned officer that he was not under any circumstances to remove himself from the RRC program without officer approval, to which he had acknowledged his understanding.

2 Special Condition #10: You must reside in a residential reentry center (RRC) for a period up to 180 days at the direction of the supervising officer. Your participation in the programs offered by the RRC is limited to employment, education, treatment, and religious services at the direction of the supervising officer. The defendant shall abide by the rules and requirements of the facility.

Supporting Evidence: It is alleged that Mr. Vielle violated the conditions of his supervised release by aborting RRC placement on February 18, 2023, at 4:50 p.m., without first seeking approval from his U.S. probation officer.

Specifically, on February 18, 2023, at 4:58 p.m., the undersigned officer received an email from RRC staff indicating that the client had departed the facility without approval and staff were unaware as to any identified concern on the part of the client. Staff further described him as stating that he was “done with this place.”

On February 21, 2023, Mr. Vielle reported to the U.S. Probation Office indicating that he could no longer “handle it there.” Mr. Vielle indicated that he had attempted to contact the undersigned officer, although admitted he did not leave a message. It should be noted, the undersigned officer had no missed calls from any number not known to the undersigned officer on the day in question. Mr. Vielle was on numerous occasions advised by the undersigned officer that he was not under any circumstances to remove himself from the RRC without officer approval, to which he acknowledged his understanding.

The U.S. Probation Office respectfully recommends the Court issue a WARRANT requiring the offender to appear to answer to the allegation(s) contained in this petition.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.
